Ferroglobe announces the sale of Spanish hydro facilities with one ferroalloys plant to TPG Sixth Street Partners

Total transaction value of 170 million euros

- Company to divest 100% of subsidiary FerroAtlántica, S.A.U. the owner of ten hydroelectric facilities, with a combined capacity of 167 MW, and of the Cee-Dumbría ferroalloys plant.
- The transaction is a key milestone in Ferroglobe's strategy of divesting non-core assets to strengthen its balance sheet.
- The transaction values FerroAtlántica S.A.U. at €170 million.

LONDON, June 3, 2019 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) – Ferroglobe PLC (NASDAQ: GSM) (“Ferroglobe” or the “Company”), the world’s leading producer of silicon metal, and a leading silicon- and manganese-based specialty alloys producer, today announced that it has reached definitive agreement for the sale of its 100% interest in subsidiary FerroAtlántica, S.A.U. (“FerroAtlántica”), to investment vehicles affiliated with TPG Sixth Street Partners (“TPG Sixth Street”), the global finance and investment firm, for a total transaction value of 170 million euros. The final price is subject to customary adjustments in this type of transaction, including net debt and working capital adjustments.

The assets owned by FerroAtlántica to be transferred in this transaction are ten hydroelectric power plants with a combined generating capacity of approximately 167 MW, and the Cee-Dumbría ferroalloys factory, all located in the province of A Coruña (Spain).

Simultaneously with this sale, the Company has signed a long-term tolling agreement with FerroAtlántica under which it will become the exclusive off-taker of its finished goods. In return for this exclusivity, Ferroglobe commits to supplying FerroAtlántica with key raw materials over the long term.

For the CEO of Ferroglobe, Pedro Larrea, “The sale of FerroAtlántica represents an important step in the execution of Ferroglobe’s near term strategy of streamlining our business and strengthening our balance sheet. The structure of this transaction allows us to significantly improve the financial profile of our company, by deleveraging and enhancing liquidity, while maintaining our strong presence in the ferroalloy market and our commitment to the region of Galicia.” This transaction is a key milestone in Ferroglobe’s non-core assets divestiture plan, commenced in 2018 with the sale of hydroelectric power plants located in Aragón (Spain).

Michael Feldman and Richard Sberlati at TPG Sixth Street said, “We are pleased that this transaction allows Ferroglobe to meet its strategic objectives while strengthening its core business of specialty metals production. We are proud to be partnering with the expert local Ithaka team to operate the newly acquired facilities and look forward to our collective efforts to reinvest in the business and ensure its future.”

The completion of the sale is subject, among other standard closing conditions, to competition clearance from the Spanish anti-trust commission (CNMC) and to the administrative authorization by the regional government of the early termination of the existing financial lease of the hydroelectric power plants (similar to authorizations granted by the same body for previous early cancellations in 2012 and 2002). No other administrative or regulatory approval is required. Ferroglobe expects the closing of the transaction to take place during the third quarter of 2019.
